Eichelberger Says Japan Is Key To Far Eastern World

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6 (AP)—Japan is the key to the entire Far Eastern situation, the war-time commander of the Eighth army said today.

"So long as Russia does not control the island chain, and particularly the main islands of Japan," said Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, "the further advancement of the Reds is to a very large extent stopped."

General Eichelberger spoke from a prepared speech at the opening session of the first annual convention of the Ohio department of the American Legion.

"If we can make sure the Japanese are reasonably able to protect themselves after a peace treaty is concluded, the Reds will be stopped in their tracks."

"That is why I consider Japan to be key to the entire Far Eastern situation at this time."

Traces Prove General Eichelberger traced the means by which Russia has been able to spread Communism like a blanket over China.

"In the first place," Eichelberger said, "in the course of our overwhelming victory over Japan, we also caused the surrender to the Reds of the Japanese army in Manchuria, estimated as high as 1,000,000 troops."

When this barrier was removed, all of China lay open to ideological infiltration from the north in spite of all the wartime reinforcements of the Nationalist regime.

A second major factor has been the existent state of what we might call, the war weariness of the followers of Chiang Kai Shek.

A third, though less tangible item, is to be seen in the ideological line—the usual story of promises offered people by Communists. The fact is that with standards of living so low that any change is welcomed as an improvement, Asiatic peoples are wide open to Communistic temptation.

Can't Control China General Eichelberger asserted Russia never would be able to control "the milling mass which we call China."

"Like farmers throughout the world, the Chinese peasant loves the soil," the general said. "He wouldn't want to be regimented into collective farms."

The Chinese are the small traders of the Far East. They will require international trade in order to live. Unless the Reds cease their hymn of hate and seek friendly commercial contacts, there will be chaos in China, and the Communists will not be able to impose their regime on that vast population."

General Eichelberger hailed the unified armed services as a step dictated "by time, space and by unalterable facts of geography, political and military."

He declared that the United States is facing its greatest crisis.

"What America decides today," he said, "what she plans for tomorrow, can determine the sort of world your grandsons will possess—whether it be governed by justice or enslaved by force."

General Eichelberger, famed for his leadership of the Eighth army during the liberation of the Philippines, discussed the freedoms given Japan since American occupation began.

WHITE PAPER DRAWS BLASTS

Reception Of State Dept. Declaration Mixed On Capitol Hill Today

By JACK BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—

Congress found itself about as divided as China today on what to do about stopping the advance of Communism in Asia.

The State department's white paper explaining why Chiang Kai Shek's government failed to keep the Communists from gobbling up most of China was greeted on Capitol Hill by a volley of criticism from lawmakers who called it a confession of American failure also.

Among the members of congress there was a meeting of minds on one point—something ought to be done to keep all of China from being over-run by supporters of the Red banner, who might then threaten China's neighbors.

But there was no agreement on a program.

Senator Bridges (R-N.H.), long-time critic of the administration's policies toward Asia, offered a three point program:

"1. Pat the Nationalist government on the back instead of kicking it in the face; 2. Give assurance that this country doesn't intend to recognize the Communist government of China; 3. Furnish small arms and ammunition to the anti-Communist forces still willing to fight."

Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.) suggested that if some of the personalities could be eliminated from the Nationalist government it could serve as a framework to unify a fight against the Communists. There was no doubt he was suggesting that Chiang Kai Shek—severely criticized in the State department report—make their local offices.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) scolded the department for what he said was an effort stretching over a period of years to force Chiang's government to take in Communists.

Bridges charged that the white paper "is a complete effort of the State department to scuttle the Nationalist government and anti-Communist forces in China, adding:

"It is clear to anyone who has followed the situation that the Chinese war was lost in Washington and not in China."

Rep. John Davis Lodge (R-Conn.) said it is "a sad and bitter fact that China would probably be better off today had she been our enemy."

On the other side, Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) said he wanted to make the most of one of the few opportunities he has had to cheer for State department foreign policy decisions.

Could Have Collected

3 In County Lose $4,000 In Social Security Funds

Three Columbiana county residents recently learned that they had permanently lost benefit payments totalling approximately $4,000, William W. Wood, Jr., manager of the Youngstown office of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, reported today.

"This money could have been paid to them," Wood said, "had they taken timely advantage of their rights under the Social Security act."

Wood explained that this with the consent of the workers involved, to inform other residents of Mahoning and Columbiana counties who may now be eligible for payments but are losing money through negligence. Wood stressed the fact that old-age and survivors insurance payments are not automatic; an application is required before any benefit payment may be made.

Wood stated that two points are especially worth remembering:

1. Workers at age 65, whether or not they are still working, should contact their nearest social security office for an explanation of their rights and obligations.

2. Survivors of workers should get in touch with their nearest social security office within 90 days of the worker's death.

The Old-Age and Survivors Insurance law permits back payments for only three months prior to the month in which the claim is filed. With respect to the three Columbiana county residents, the Social Security Administration made back payments for the three months prior to June 1948, the month during which the claims were presented.

The committee received conflicting testimony concerning punishments the National Brotherhood of Operative Painters (AFL) meted out to members who fought a pay raise for national union officials and opposed their re-election.

Duffy Testifies

The union's president, James M. Duffy, told the committee Monday a union is entitled to discipline its members, and that to hamper such a right would be to infringe on democratic process in organized labor.

He insisted all those punished had fair hearings.

Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.) suggested that if some of the personalities could be eliminated from the Nationalist government it could serve as a framework to unify a fight against the Communists. There was no doubt he was suggesting that Chiang Kai Shek—severely criticized in the State department report—make their local offices.

Jacobs told Duffy he felt Congress "should legislate" against such powers in the hands of labor unions. He said that kind of penalty amounts to "coercion" and "makes other members reluctant in taking a part in the government of their organization."

Duffy insisted the suspensions were justified. He said the men penalized "have been conspicuous in fomenting wildcat strikes" and coveted the national officers' jobs.

Lawrence A. Finley, of East Liverpool, Ohio; George E. Crossen, East Liverpool, Ohio; Ray Hammond, Wellsville, Ohio; E. C. Armstrong, Newell, W. Va. and Norman Whipple, Chester, W. Va., had complained to the committee that they were punished without fair hearings.

P. J. Dean and Galen Greenisen, both incumbents, have filed for re-election as Perry township trustees. A. H. Fultz also filed his petition with the board of elections for re-election as Perry township constable.

Among The Interested Spectators

There has been more attention paid to selection of a new Republican national chairman than that routine process has drawn for years. The reason is obvious.

Besides Republicans interested in the reorganization of party machinery after its fifth consecutive defeat by the Democratic coalition, many Democrats are watching closely. They know something that has been hard for Republicans to comprehend.

The Republican party will become formidable in a presidential election when it asserts itself vigorously as a party of opposition. Voters want to make a choice at the polls. They become confused and despondent about political processes when asked to make a selection between tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee.

That has been the Republican blunder in strategy in the last three presidential elections. Whether or not it was done deliberately, or whether it reflected the attitude of Wendell Willkie and Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican line seemed to run parallel with the line of the Democratic coalition. It was a "me-too" argument, and it made no impression on voters. The Republican party might have lost the same presidential elections with a different argument, but if it had avoided "me-too" reasoning its position today would be sounder.

Historically, the party would have escaped all blame for a momentous blunder in politics—the fact that the United States was pushed into state socialism by rivalry for votes. Every time Republican spokesmen tried to outdo the new dealers, they encouraged the new deal to offer still more concessions to favor-seeking minorities. That finally became an issue inside the Republican party, just as it is inside the Democratic party. And that's why the Republican national committee has had a hard time trying to find a chairman who can get rid of the "me-too" taint without getting rid of party members who didn't realize how damaging it would be.

The new chairman is Guy G. Gabrielson of Bernardsville, N. J. He won election by the narrowest squeak possible—one vote. His work is cut out for him. He must prove to skeptics that the Republican party can pull itself together after five lickings in presidential elections. Among the interested spectators are strategists of the new deal coalition who have been waiting for the Republicans to realize that an opposition must oppose vigorously or lose its reason for existence in a two-party government. There have been no illusions about this among the new dealers, big-city democratic bosses, the labor politicians currently dictating new deal strategy or the hard-bitten politicians who have advised Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman. If Guy G. Gabrielson can bring the Republican party together to oppose the new deal vigorously the welfare-state politicians will have the fight of their lives ahead of them in 1950 and 1952. The Republican party will be through losing elections by default.

Lesser Of Two Evils

The official purpose of the State department's "white paper" on Chinese policy is to let the people of the United States know why the Truman administration is writing off Chinese Nationalists as a bad investment. It has given them aid with a paper value of about three billion dollars since the war and has received nothing in return but a sour taste and domination of China by a Communist regime.

Any government admitting that much money has been wasted on a mistake in official judgment wants to be backed up with a lot of explanations; hence the publication at this time of the official record on Chinese policy since 1884. It is, in substance, no more or less than the story of wishful thinking about a country which never was strong enough to be in control of its own affairs. Other governments, including the United States, held up China's hands—without caring too much whose hands they happened to be at any given time.

But recently it has been necessary to choose between evils—the weak and corrupt government of Chiang Kai-Shek and the dynamic but Red-ruled government developed by the Chinese Communists. The United States gambled on Chiang, the lesser of the evils. He lost. The United States lost. It is being urged to gamble on Chiang again. The Truman administration wants to show by the record that Chiang isn't worth another gamble.

If some other means of pestering Chinese Communists presents itself, they can be appraised on their merit. But Chiang Kai-Shek is through. His Nationalist government is no longer entitled to the support of the United States—a conclusion which will be no surprise to Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, who rushed to Washington late last year to ask for help, was made to know that no help was forthcoming and thereafter settled down for an indefinite sojourn in the United States, instead of Formosa, where her husband now lives in self-imposed exile.

Partners In Fraud

Rumblings and mutterings that suggest a major lid-lifting on government fraud is imminent should be the signal for a certain amount of mental preparation on the part of the public.

It's the impact on public opinion that's important in any disclosure of fraud. The money, after all, is usually gone forever. Therefore, the public mind should be aware of what's at stake.

One thing that's at stake, moreover, should be watched with special attention because a great many people will be trying to divert attention from it. That's the fact it takes at least two persons to carry on fraud at the expense of government.

It takes one to receive money fraudulently and one to pay it. Yet in the usual routine of mud-slinging when fraud is uncovered and everybody gets busy with accusations and recriminations, those who pay the money are ignored.

There should be no mercy for any public official who accepts graft. But there should be none for the American citizens who pay graft either. If there's going to be a revelation of dirty work in government circles—and apparently one is overdue—full attention should be given to patriots who tried to bribe their way into special favor.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, Aug. 7
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

SUNDAY'S astrological forecast is for a disruptive and conflicting state of affairs, with much to throw the balance either way by sagacious behavior, tact, discretion and practical judgment. Shun all extravagance and speculative enterprises, using high principle and not expediency in forming judgments. Some secret influence may incite to right action in the face of seeming calamity or disaster.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may expect a year of conflicting and challenging experiences in which a sudden intervention or strange undercurrent may turn the tide with subtlety and happy intrigues. Refrain from rash or wild tactics in efforts to change the tide. Perhaps a domestic or romantic tie may be at the bottom and avert the crash.

A child born on this day may have reckless or unaccountable urges, but eventually sound reason, sane judgment or peculiar influences may avert a devastating expense.

For Monday, Aug. 8

MONDAY'S horoscope presages a complete upheaval, with all the attendant crises, excitement and "temperament." Any rash or drastic action could have power to side-track eventual prosperous culminations, with surprising turns affecting business and personal relations. In these, good logic and practical activities may bring on an unlooked-for crisis. Be wise in approaching superiors.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may look for a torrid or hectic year, breathtaking and thrilling. The eventual denouement depends upon the reasonable approach, the logic of tactics or techniques rather than a headlong or headstrong onrush, impelled by panic or rashness rather than considered routines and wisdom. The intervention may be domestic or "providential," but handle superiors "with gloves" as they are not "susceptible."

A child born on this day, may have a difficult time in trimming sails to the winds, as it will be torn with emotions or inner drives, unaccountable and insistent.

LOW INCOME TAX RETURNS CHECKED

Government Makes Survey To See How Many U. S. Taxpayers In Line

By WILLIAM KERWIN
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—(INS)—The government has started a checkup on 150,000 income tax returns with the investigation centered on persons in low-income groups.

Internal revenue bureau sources disclosed today that the investigation began last month and is designed to show more clearly the effectiveness of federal tax enforcement activities.

The bureau is collecting returns at random from more than 50 million filed last March for the calendar year 1948. The survey is based on a scientific sampling formula which is expected to give the government a better idea of the characteristics of the taxpayer.

Plans call for the examination of 100,000 forms filed by persons with adjusted gross incomes under $7,000. The other 50,000 will involve returns over that amount.

The survey is described officially as an "audit control program." It is not a "crackdown" on tax violators although officials concede that it may persuade taxpayers to be more careful in complying fully with tax laws.

Want Understanding

The bureau wants to know whether all taxpaying groups understand tax procedures.

Field work is expected to be completed before Dec. 31 so that the information may be correlated for presentation to congressional appropriations committees late next winter.

One official said in discussing the survey:

"Better knowledge than is available today about the masses of income taxpayers is required both to apply present methods of tax enforcement more effectively and to discover new mass enforcement techniques."

"It is fair to conclude that, although the general areas of tax enforcement needs and difficulties are well known, existing knowledge is too often vague and sometimes biased."

The bureau expects the sampling to have a psychological effect on taxpayers. It said:

"Letting taxpayers know that thousands of individual income tax returns will be selected for field investigation by random methods will induce many of them to be more careful and less willing to err, for they can no longer feel that a practiced wit and shrewdness poured into tax returns will soothe the strained eye of the tax collector."

"Important indirect enforcement effects are likely to result."

The earth is the fifth largest planet of the sun. Although the sun is much larger than the moon, the difference in distance is so great that from the earth they appear to be about the same size.

ESTIMATE GAIN IN OHIO SINCE CENSUS OF 1940

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—(UP)—Ohio's population has gained 927,000 since the last official census of 1940, the bureau of census estimated today.

The report said migration from other states to Ohio was responsible for a big share of the increase.

The net migration for Ohio was 412,000 during the eight-year period covered in the survey, while the "natural" increase of the state's population was 594,000, the number of births less the number of deaths.

The bureau made the estimate as of July 1, 1948, but it is a comprehensive check on figures of births, deaths, school enrollments and movement of people from state to state.

Only California and Michigan gained more than Ohio in population between 1940 and 1948, the report showed, but several states gained more percentage-wise.

California picked up more than 3,000,000, placing it close behind Pennsylvania in total population. New York, however, still is first, though its gain was 739,000. Those three states and Illinois are the only three states which have more people than Ohio.

The report indicated that the population increases were mostly in the cities.

Ohio's increase of 13.4 percent, over the national increase of 10.6, means that Ohio will be entitled to an extra congressman when the new apportionment is made in 1951. It lost one after the 1940 census.

Peaches Are Early

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6—(AP)—Early peaches in Ohio are really early this year.

Vernon Patterson, extension horticulturist at Ohio State university reports Golden Jubilee peaches are ripening fully a week to 10 days ahead of schedule.

Harvesting of Golden Jubilee will be completed in southern Ohio this week, and picking is now underway in Coshocton county, he said.

The main Golden Jubilee crop in northern Ohio is not expected to reach market until the end of next week, however. Patterson added that the quality of this year's peach crop is "exceptionally good."

FARM NEWS OF LOCAL INTEREST...

Riboflavin Needed for Calves

If young calves are fed normal rations and managed in the usual way, the possibility of riboflavin deficiency occurring is small, says T. S. Sutton, research associate in dairy and animal science of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station.

When calves are fed rations consisting of milk in which this vitamin has been destroyed, deficiency symptoms appear in two to four weeks. Calves cease to gain weight, have intermittent scours, produce an excessive amount of saliva and tears and lose hair about the head. In later stages, they have difficulty in swallowing and finally completely collapse. If a supplement of riboflavin is given after the deficiency disease develops the symptoms quickly disappear and recovery is rapid.

When milk is fed in the usual amounts, enough riboflavin is provided to meet the requirements of the calf and provide in addition a satisfactory margin of safety. As soon as the calf begins to consume roughages the feed source of riboflavin is less important.

A number of Columbiana county will attend Ohio Dairy day at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station at Wooster Friday, Aug. 12. Various dairy experiments will be seen and a speaking program of interest to dairymen will take place in the afternoon. 4-H dairy judging will also be a part of the program.

Soil and Water Project

A tour of Columbiana county farmers to the government hydrological research station near Coshocton has been scheduled for Wednesday according to County Agent Floyd Lower, Lisbon. The party will meet at the station at 10 a. m. to view the work. The farm can be reached by going west of Dover on route 39 to Shanesville and then south on route 93 to Pearl. The farm lies west of Pearl and north of Coshocton.

The work done at the station is entirely on the basis of soil and water management. Various devices are used to determine how water acts in the soil and what water losses occur from various methods of management.

A total of 1057 acres are owned and operated by the experiment station and an additional 4,000 to 5,000 acres owned by farmers are included in the project on a cooperative basis. The degrees of slope and types of soil as well as the rotation and cropping practices are factors in determining soil and water losses and these factors are rapidly becoming known from the work at this station. It is one of a few such stations operated by the federal government in the United States.

Any interested person may participate in the event. Two or three hours will be required to drive from various points in Columbiana county.

Tribe's Rivals Sticking Right With Them

BOSTON REMAINS 2 1/2 BACK; LEMON SLATED FOR TODAY

Cleveland's Gift Victory
Over Philadelphia Comes
On Two Errors

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6—(AP)—No matter how consistently they keep winning, the Cleveland Indians find their rivals right with them. The Tribe eked out a 3 to 2 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics last night, in the opener of a four-game series, thanks to four in-field errors. That made four wins in a row for the Indians, and their seventh triumph in the 11 games of their current eastern trip.

But meanwhile the St. Louis Browns were rolling over and playing dead in a double-header with the New York Yankees, so the Yanks gained half a game on the Tribe and now are three games in front. And the Boston Red Sox blanked the Detroit Tigers 9 to 0 to remain two and one-half behind Cleveland.

Today the Athletics may revert to form and become hostile again, by sending Dick Fowler, their right-hand curve-ball specialist, against the Indians. Until last night's fizzle by the A's, Shibe park had been a very unfriendly place for Cleveland. The best they could do in each of two earlier visits was to take one of three games.

Fowler has licked the Indians three times in a row since he bowed to them in Cleveland on May 4. He beat them in Cleveland on June 4, in Shibe park on June 20 and in Cleveland on July 15.

His mound opponent will be the Tribe's ace, Bob Lemon, who took his 13th win, against six losses, as a relief pitcher in Thursday night's game with Washington. Lemon won against the A's on June 22 after dropping a decision to them the previous day, and won again on July 14.

In last night's contest, Shortstop Eddie Joost and Third Baseman Hank Majeski had two errors each to give Cleveland two unearned runs. Mike (The Bear) Garcia was the starting and winning pitcher, earning victory number nine, but he had to have help from Al Benton to squeak a Philadelphia uprising in the ninth. The Athletics' rookie southpaw, Alex Kellner, was the victim.

Philadelphia scored in the first on a walk to Joost, a sacrifice by Wally Moses and a single by Elmer Valo.

In the second frame, Joost muffed Joe Gordon's grounder, and Majeski fumbled Johnny Berardino's roller, after Jim He-

Action Unsensational In Class A; Surprise Win Posted By Lisbon

Action was unsensational and about as expected in the Class A games Friday night. The nearest thing to a surprise was the Lisbon VFW's defeat of the CIO, 6-4, in a National league tilt.

In other games in the National league Bliss won 2-0 over Fishers and the China smashed Mullins 16-1. In the American the Jaycees lost 13-10 to Swetney and the National Sanitary wopped Saxons 7-0.

The games do little to change league standings in either circuit. Bliss, of course, has added another victory to its long chain and now has won 17 and lost only two, both at the opening of the season.

Russell's four-hitter for Bliss and Jimmie Boone's neat three-hitter for the Sanitary were the best twirling shows of the night. Both pitchers had their games in the bag all the way.

Poloists Will Tangle With Columbus Sunday

Salem's Polo club, red-hot after a 15-7 win over Detroit last week, will be seeking another upset in a game with Columbus Harbor Hills at the N. Ellsworth road field at 3 p. m. Sunday.

Capt. Jim Pidgeon is a question mark again this week. Out for some time with an ankle injury, Pidgeon may be able to go Sunday. His return would strengthen Salem considerably.

Salem lost to Harbor Hills twice in games here earlier this season, but the club is now better mounted.

Gene Derricotte Released By Brown; Has Bad Knee

BOWLING GREEN, Aug. 6 (AP)—"In that shape," Brown mourned. The Cleveland Browns football club has released Gene Derricotte, Michigan defensive star, to the Browns' left halfback.

Derricotte, a 23-year-old Air Force veteran, was to replace Tommy Colella as left halfback of the All-America Football conference Champions.

The Browns' coach said he would ask for waivers on Derricotte but hoped to have him return for another trial next season.

"He couldn't cut the mustard field, now known as Central park.

The new equipment is expected to be installed by the end of the summer with the backstop due to go up yet this month.

The field has been cleared and top soil spread over the infield.

Jeweler's Team Leads

The Leetonia Jewelers, who have been playing two or three games each week, are leading the drive for an organized league next year. The team has played 21 games, both softball and baseball, to see which the youths wished to follow.

After a practice game of baseball last night the team voted to concentrate on softball as more boys are more interested in this type of game.

Central park field is better suited for softball as the outfield boundaries are too short for the long-distance baseball flies.

This group, composed of boys in the 17-19 age bracket, has been outfitted by the Leetonia Jewelers. Mike Salvino is the manager. The team is seeking games with class B teams in the Leetonia area. He can be reached at 45 Pine st. or phone 8017.

Jack Rose, advisor for the Order Sons of Italy Ramblers, said that they would welcome an organized league. The Ramblers have played six regulation games with four wins and two losses.

Other teams playing ball this summer include the Mickey McGuire's, two American Legion teams and the High school team. Numerous unorganized teams had practice sessions but were unable to make progress, primarily because of the lack of a suitable ball diamond in the village.

Boasters Plan Picnic

At the Thursday night meeting the Boosters also made plans for a picnic outing on Aug. 18 in the wooded park near the High school. Football players, coaches and Boosters will get together and discuss the Bears prospects for this season.

After lunch and refreshments have been served the group will go into the High school where football movies will be shown. Joe Leeson will act as master of ceremonies.

On Park Board

Frank Aiken, representing the Community Park board, informed President Brennan that the board would welcome three members of the Boosters club to the board.

Boaster members of the board are Brennan, Harold Morrow and Jack Ripley.

Sales of bicycles are estimated at 2,000,000 annually in the United States.

placed person or other non-German nationals. They are all under the jurisdiction of the U.S. courts. The reason in all probability, Strader said, is that German courts would be prejudiced against former enemies and concentration camp inmates.

A DP cannot even be tried for a traffic violation in a German court.

The United States courts also try Germans and all other persons for violation of United States occupation laws.

Commenting generally on Germany, Strader said a miraculous recovery has been made since the money reform a year ago. Consumer goods of fine quality are available in all stores but prices are too high for the average persons to buy.

Coffee is rationed and is sold in small quantities because of the high price. Fats and meats are still on the rationed list but most other items can be purchased ration free.

Germans have faith in the new mark but wages are very low.

The judge said his court reporter is paid only 200 marks per month which after all deductions is about $60 at the official rate of exchange.

Decent food for a family of four, the judge said, costs about 200 marks per month.

The Straders expect to return to Germany about Aug. 22. They are provided with a maid and a gardener for their home and have a chauffeur to drive their car.

Still untold numbers of qualified persons manage to by-pass money which they can get merely by making inquiry at their nearest Social Security office, Wood says.

"One telephone call would have been worth $1,000 to each of these people," Wood continued, adding that his office number was Youngstown 4-4253. "If telephoning is impossible, one letter explaining the situation would have straightened the matter out.

In addition to the full time office of the Social Security Administration at 123 W. Commerce st., Youngstown, itinerant service is available for the convenience of the public at four other points in Mahoning and Columbiana counties.

Field Representative Eugene O. Wiles may be reached each Tuesday in the Salem postoffice from 12:00 noon to 3 p.m. and at Sebring, in the postoffice; the second Thursday of every month from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

The first inter-city fire brigade contest was held in Ohio between the city of Middletown, Springfield and Dayton. The brigades were made up of teams of factory employees.

Call Back Workers

KENT, Aug. 6 — Twin Coach company officials announced to-day the recall of 100 workers laid off in June and early July. The bus-making firm now employs about 555 workers in Kent and said it expects to have a working force of 750 by October.

An increase in the order backlog, aided by two new contracts totaling $1,625,000, was given as reason for the rehiring.
